In order to increase the scientific standards of the journal, special attention was paid to the improvement of the quality of the published materials. All articles, structured in several sections (review articles, original articles, case studies, case reports) are published in English.

A multidisciplinary team of medical professionals in the field of obstetrics and gynecology, neonatology, general surgery, and oncology is involved in a rigorous peer review process, which respects the international norms of ethics and quality in the academic world.

Increasing the visibility of the Obstetrica și Ginecologia is achieved not only through the exchange of articles with other publications and the collaboration with similar national and international bodies, but also through the dedicated website where the latest published articles are posted, offering the opportunity to be informed in real time.

Through its activity, Obstetrica și Ginecologia contributes decisively to the promotion of medical activity, to continuous medical training, ensuring the increase of the competence of specialists, thus improving the medical act and aligning it to the highest standards at the international level.
