

AIMS AND SCOPE

OBSTETRICA ȘI GINECOLOGIA

Affiliation: Romanian Society of Obstetrics and Gynecology

In order to increase the scientific standards of the journal, special attention was paid to the improvement of the quality of the published materials. All articles, structured in several sections (general articles, case studies, case presentations) are published both in Romanian and English.

A team of reputable medical professionals in the field of Allergology is involved in a rigorous peer review process that complies with international ethics and quality rules in the academic world.

Increasing the visibility of the Obstetrica și Ginecologia is achieved not only through the exchange of articles with other publications and the collaboration with similar national and international bodies, but also through the dedicated website where the latest published articles are posted, offering the opportunity to be informed in real time.

Through its work, Obstetrica și Ginecologia contributes decisively to the promotion of medical activity, also contributing to the continuing medical education and ensuring the increase of the specialists' competence, thus improving the medical act and by aligning it with the highest standards at the international level.

Obstetrica și Ginecologia aims to publish scientifically valid papers, related to the Obstetrics and Gynecology field, offering a good visibility of the published papers. It is also an educational platform for physicians, educators interested in this domain, and aims to promote research and good clinical practice.

Obstetrica și Ginecologia publishes original articles in the field of Obstetrics, Gynecology, Neonatology, Oncology. The following types of submissions are accepted:

- Original research papers
- Case reports
- Reviews
- Letters to the editor
- Educational materials: practice guidelines, new techniques description and use
- News, chronicles

All submitted papers are confidentially peer-reviewed in a timely manner, by independent reviewers selected according to the topic of the article. The peer-review process aims to check the originality, scientific validity, and coherence of the submission.

Obstetrica și Ginecologia offers fast publication. The eligible submissions are typically published within 2 months. There is no publication fee, and the online version is available open access on the Journal's web site. The printed journal is distributed to the subscribers.